15 MARCH 2011
HUNGARIAN DAY

Hungarian Day

Andebolle Youth College hosted this week another "Intercultural evening".

The 11 hungarian students have organized a full day dedicated to their Country. They chose March 15 for a reason: on this day Hungary has been finally recognized as an independent Country after centuries of foreing domination.

They all wore a pin with the tricolor cockade, symbol of Hungary independence, while they were cooking traditional food. In the evening they presented their Country to the other students through videos, pictures, folk dances and national songs.

At the end of the day, they offered to the other students typical Hungarian chocolate and juice.

Hungarian Day

The hungarian students presented their Country talking about their traditions and costumes, explaining the historical background of the Nation, teaching hungarian folk dances and singing the most famous national songs.

At the end of the "Intercultural evening" they offered chocolate and juice to the other students, to give them a "taste" of Hungary.
